What is the difference between Central Police University and general colleges and universities or military academies?

Our university is a comprehensive institution that combines both academic and military aspects. Therefore, there are differences in terms of life management compared to general colleges and military academies. Except for weekends and winter/summer breaks, all students are obligated to live on campus and adhere to reasonable lifestyle regulations. The educational mission of our university is to facilitate a well-rounded development in academics, skills, character, conduct, and life education, through a combination of effective teaching and comprehensive life coaching processes.
